Flexible working arrangements

At TRILITY we believe in work/life balance.

We believe working from home has benefits including working around family and personal commitments, greater control over your own working schedule and can help reduce commute times.

As does working in the office; these include building and maintaining our valued company culture and enabling the crucial incidental exchange of information and knowledge.

We therefore have adopted a 'hybrid approach' with some required office attendance, and flexible working from home for roles that allow it.

Professional development

Learning and development and professional memberships

TRILITY is committed to providing a working environment that supports and empowers our people to thrive. By committing to a formal Performance and Development Review process throughout the year, our goal is to work with our employees to identify their motivations and formulate a plan to help them achieve their personal goals.

We invest in our employees and support achievement of qualifications in their respective fields. To support this, we will contribute to the costs on external training and towards annual memberships to a professional association of their choice.

Education assistance

Where an employee wishes to pursue external study that is directly relevant to their role within TRILITY, and/or that study is likely to provide benefits to TRILITY in terms of improving the employee's work skills, knowledge and/or ability, TRILITY may agree to provide study assistance to the employee. Depending on the nature of the study proposed, TRILITY may reimburse up to 50% of study fees.

This Committee recommends practical steps to implement our approach to diversity and inclusion, provides feedback to the Senior Management Team in relation to inclusion and diversity, raises any concerns, and promotes inclusion and diversity across the business.

This means we are focused on ensuring our employees adhere to our values and commit to exemplary performance across all aspects of our footprint in the community. This runs across everything we do.

Staff survey

Every two years TRILITY conducts a staff survey to formally gain feedback from our employees on TRILITY's culture and working environment. This survey has been conducted every two years since 2012 and provides a valuable insight into how we operate as an organisation.

TRILITY currently uses the Denison Organisational Culture Survey tool. This survey measures specific aspects of our organisation's culture looking at the areas of Mission, Adaptability, Involvement, Consistency, Innovation and Employee Engagement. Individual responses are collectively tabulated into a graphic profile that compares our organisation's culture to a database of 1,000 other organisations.

The survey results are used to assist TRILITY in planning for the future; specifically, in the way we manage our business and build relationships not only amongst ourselves, but also with our customers and suppliers. The Senior Management Team (SMT) pay close attention to the feedback that is received from these surveys, and this influences the decisions made and the goals set.

A copy of all past staff surveys is available under the Employee Surveys page under Human Resources on the intranet.
